Yarrows Ltd. will need between 200 and 300 more men before the end of August, Jac. Tyrwhitt, personnel director of Wartime Shipbuilding in B.C., said today. He has been visiting the local plant.

It has been found Yarrows must expand staff in order to maintain their present contract obligations for landing ferries, Mr. Tyrwhitt said.

It is impossible to get either skilled or unskilled workmen in Victoria. A number of High School students are working at Yarrows but when school reopens most of these boys will leave, which will further aggravate the situation.

Germans Leaving Black Sea Ports

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—The Germans appear to be evacuating the Bulgarian Black Sea ports of Varna and Burgas, a traveler from eastern Bulgaria said here today, adding that during the past few days he had seen trains loaded with German soldiers moving toward the vicinity of Belgrade.

More Signs Suggest Turkey Nearing War

LONDON (AP)—Signs increased today Turkey soon may swing from her tenderly-balanced neutral position to a possible declaration of war against the Axis.

One such indication was a broadcast by the German-controlled Vichy radio that all Turkish ships had been ordered into Turkish harbors without delay, and that all navigation in Turkish waters of the Black Sea had been suspended.

There was a growing belief in London Turkey may attempt to improve her position at the Allied peace table by handing Axis diplomats their walking papers.

Cardinal Refuses To Sign Anti-Red

LONDON (GNA Cable)—Cardinal Hlond, Catholic primate of Poland, now held at Barle-Duc, France, by the Gestapo, has refused to sign an anti-communist appeal to the people of Poland, the semi-official Polish newspaper Dziennik Polski said here today.

The former leader of Catholic Poland turned down an offer of freedom in return for signing the appeal, the paper said.

$900 Every Month Needed

Subscriptions ranging from a few pennies to several dollars deposited in the Scottish Trust at Spencer's entrance brought $28.21 to the Times Scottish Comforts Fund today.

Mrs. Rupert Guthrie of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Women's Auxiliary pointed out that every donation no matter how small is needed. Cigarettes and other comforts to the value of $900 have been pledged each month by the auxiliary to the soldiers of the Victoria and Island unit. Guam Reconquest By U.S. Starts; Men Pour Ashore

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY
PEARL HARBOR (AP)—United States Marines and Infantry are pouring ashore on Guam, first American territory seized by the Japanese in this war, and fighting their way inland under cover of a pulverizing aerial and warship bombardment, Admiral Nimitz announced today.

The landings, a quick follow-up to the victory of Saipan, started Thursday morning, and "are continuing against moderate ground opposition," the commander said.

Guam is the southernmost and largest of the Marianas group of islands. In the hands of U.S. forces it will greatly strengthen Saipan's position as a base from which Japan can be mortally assaulted. Guam is 130 miles south west of Saipan, and both islands are within easy Superfortress range of Tokyo and the whole of Japan.

The Philippines, lying some 1,500 miles west of Guam and Saipan, likewise are vulnerable to the mighty forces Nimitz is hurling across the Pacific.

Russ Take Ostrov, 150 Other Towns In Warsaw Push

LONDON (CP)—Red Army troops today captured Ostrov near the Latvian border and 150 other populated places, and cut the road from Brest-Litovsk to Chelm in prewar Poland, a Russian communique announced tonight.

Ostrov, 10 miles from the Latvian frontier, and 25 miles from Estonia, fell to troops of the third Baltic front "as the result of a skilful outflanking manoeuvre combined with a frontal attack," Marshal Stalin said in an order of the day. He described the city as a large communications centre and powerful German stronghold "covering the way to the central districts of the Baltic sea."

Both the road and railroad between Brest-Litovsk and Chelm were snipped.

More than 100 populated places were swept up in the battle veering toward Brest-Litovsk.

Earlier reports from Moscow had said explosions could be heard from the great rail centre of Lwow, suggesting the Germans were engaged in demolition preparatory to retreat. Russians had announced they were within five miles of the prewar Polish city.

Russian troops crossed the Bug River on a front of 37 miles and advanced up to more than nine miles, seizing over 50 populated places in a sweep toward Warsaw.

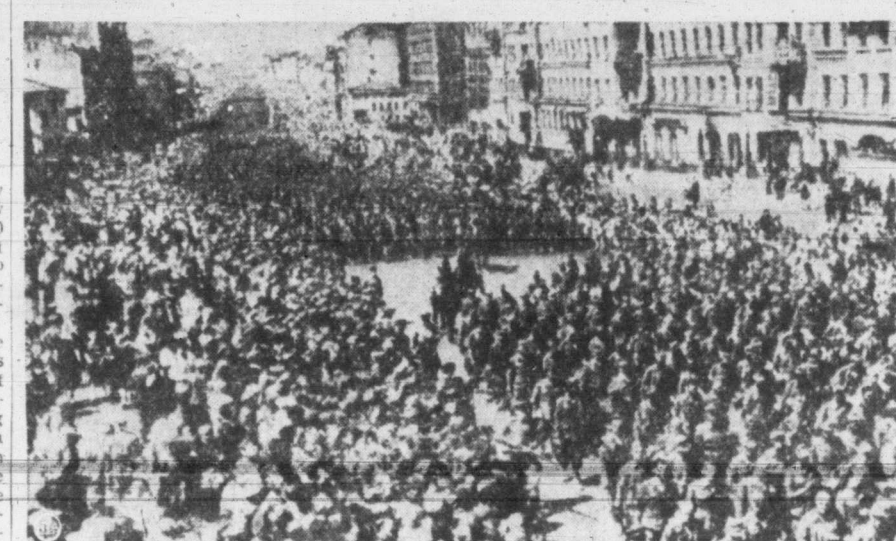

MOSCOW (AP)—The Red Army seized a deadly stranglehold on the Germans' Baltic front today inside Lithuania today, hurled a massive blow toward Poland's martyred capital of Warsaw and sealed the fate of the Nazi stronghold of Lwow.

(Reports from Moscow to London tonight said explosions could be heard from the great rail centre of Lwow, suggesting the Germans were engaged in demolition preparatory to retreat. Thursday midnight the Russians said they were within five miles of the prewar Polish city.)

Pouring across the trans-Lithuanian railway, Soviet forces captured the junction of Skopishki, 50 miles west of Daugavpils (Dvinsk), 85 miles southeast of the Latvian port of Riga and 163 miles east of Meme.

The Nazi garrison at Lwow was doomed, with the Russians five miles away in the suburb of Doroshev. It faced the same kind of disaster that overtook more than four German divisions encircled earlier in the week at Brody, 55 miles northwest, where they now are being annihilated.

Germans 'Invade' Moscow—As Prisoners

Through the streets of the Russian capital march 57,000 German officers and men, prisoners of the swiftly onrushing Red Army. Thousands of Moscow residents lined the streets to see the Nazi captives, who had planned an entirely different entry into the city when they first started their campaign against Russia. Goebbels Reports Attempt to Seize Berlin Buildings

LONDON (AP)—The German military radio said today Propaganda Minister Goebbels had frustrated an attempt by a "clique" of high command officers to get possession of the government quarters of Berlin.

A battalion of the "Grossdeutschland" Division received orders to occupy the government quarters, the radio account said. The battalion was commanded by a Major Remer.

"Acting with accustomed soldierly discipline, he carried out these orders," the broadcast said. "The orders received by Maj. Remer read:

"The Fuehrer has met with a fatal accident. Disorders in the Reich are reported. Executive power has been passed into the hands of the Wehrmacht."

HIS ORDERS

"The situation naturally called for clear thinking. Remer issued a short statement to all his officers and men to the effect that his orders only were to be obeyed.

"Remer then established contact with Reich Minister Goebbels, who in his capacity as city president of Berlin is head of municipal administration. Goebbels immediately summoned Remer to report to him and personally told him the Fuehrer was unhurt.

"Soon after that Remer spoke to the Fuehrer over telephone and received orders for his battalion from Hitler himself.

"Goebbels then addressed Remer's battalion, assuring them the Fuehrer was well and indicating the most urgent tasks of moment."

Wing Hay Takes 12 Nazi Prisoners

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE (CP)—Pte. Wing Hay of Port Alberni, B.C., took an even dozen German prisoners when a western Canadian battalion occupied this village a mile east of Caen and Poubourg de Vaucelles.

The Chinese soldier, a former taxi driver, a Canadian army boxer, rooted them out of a hide-out where the Germans apparently were trying to catch up on some of the sleep they had lost since the start of the week.

Wing Hay was well-known in British Columbia boxing rings as a lightweight fighter a few years ago. One of best-remembered bouts was against Dave Lewis of Victoria in a scheduled 10-round main event at Duncan. Lewis scored a knockout in the third round. Hay met several good boys in bouts at Vancouver and although he never reached the top the Chinese lad was recognized as a smart performer.

A resident of Port Alberni, Hay operated his own taxi business at the upisland town. He left here in 1940 with the Canadian Scottish.

Free Germany Committee Calls for Deathblow to Naziism

LONDON (CP)—It was felt here today that the Nazis, after the attempt on Hitler's life, had two choices—to try to hush up the incident or to twist the facts into propaganda and create an emotional story on the home front. The fact that the latter course was chosen suggested a revolt of such dimensions that it could not be concealed.

(CBS quoted the BBC as saying the Soviet-sponsored Free Germany National Committee in Moscow broadcast an appeal to the German opposition this morning to "deal the death blow" to the Hitler regime. This Moscow station was quoted as declaring that "this attempt on the life of Hitler reveals the weakness and rottenness of the tottering Hitler regime.")

Speaking in angry and strident tones in an unheated early-morning broadcast only a few hours after Berlin had announced he had escaped, death, Hitler declared:

"At an hour in which the German army is waging a very hard struggle, there has appeared in Germany a very small group similar to that in Italy (apparently a reference to the Italian surrender last Sept. 8) which believed that it could thrust a dagger into our back as it did in 1918. But this time they have made a mistake."

That a revolt of widespread proportions may have developed among high German officers was indicated by Hitler's words, although he, as well as Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering and Admiral Karl Doenitz, who followed him on the air, all tried to emphasize that the dissatisfaction was concentrated in a small group.

In his broadcast, Hitler announced a new shift in his commanding officers. He said he had called Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian to be chief of the general staff because the incumbent was forced to "retire for health reasons." Guderian, a tank expert, has been fighting on the Russian front.

Hitler did not name the retired chief of staff, but he apparently referred to Col. Gen. Kurt Zeitzler, who was named to the office in December, 1942. This office is not to be confused with that of Gen. Alfred Jodl, Hitler's personal chief of staff, who was wounded in the explosion.

Hitler said he had appointed another eastern front veteran to aid Guderian, but did not disclose his name.

Sick Blue Heron Down in Oak Bay

When residents reported an emaciated Great Blue Heron, standing 30 inches high, with a wing spread of five feet, in an Oak Bay yard, S.P.C.A. Inspector Smith caught the bird.

He said he found it had broken a wing, some time ago, probably by a telephone wire, and being unable to fly normally could not get food and was in a state of starvation. He said the bird was so far gone it was necessary to kill it.

Answering a report by Tong Yen of Tong Yen Greenhouse Company, 350 St. Charles, that considerable damage had been done at his greenhouse, city police found a number of plots of expensive flowers had been destroyed, by someone spraying a poisonous fluid over them some time Wednesday evening. Damage was estimated at $700.

Soldiers In East Deserting, Claims Atlantic Radio

LONDON (CP)—Two German divisions were reported today to have revolted in Russian-occupied East Prussia, and a full-blown purge of generals, apparently, was proceeding in Germany as an aftermath to what Adolf Hitler called a traitorous attempt to assassinate him and pave the way for surrender.

With broken communications masking conditions within the Reich, the Berlin radio announced that Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck, former chief of the German general staff, was "no longer among living persons." He, presumably, was shot in the fiery vengeance Hitler was venting on his own people.

At the same time a traveler reaching Sweden said two German divisions had revolted in East Prussia, Wednesday, apparently touching off the movement which culminated in the attack on Hitler, declared by Berlin to have occurred Thursday.

(A Reuters dispatch from Stockholm to London said the German plane on the Berlin-Stockholm service was not allowed to leave Berlin today.)

Besides Beck, Berlin announced execution of a whole group of conspirators linked with the plot to overthrow the Fuehrer and prepare the path for peace in the defeat-riddled and bomb-tortured Reich.

Among them was the colonel who was alleged to have planted a bomb which exploded only a little over six feet from Hitler while he was surrounded by his highest personal military aides.

Deputy Press Chief Sundermann declared in connection with Beck's demise that there was "proof that a connection was established with an enemy power," Berlin broadcasts said.

Beck was removed as chief of the general staff in November, 1938, because, Berlin dispatches stated at the time, he failed to see eye to eye with Hitler.

Disagreed Over Grab of Austria

He was reported to have disagreed with the Fuehrer's plans to seize Austria and Czechoslovakia.

Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd von Rundstedt was removed from his command, apparently touching off the movement which culminated in the attack on Hitler, declared by Berlin to have occurred Thursday.

The "Atlantic" radio, supposedly operated inside Germany, declared "revolution has burst forth in Germany" and "part of the eastern army is deserting and returning from the front."

Allied propagandists bombarded the Reich with broadcasts urging the Germans to deal the death blow to the Hitler regime.

New bits of information relayed by Berlin on the incident in which Hitler was said to have been burned and bruised by an explosion Thursday included the

No Army Spokesman At Meeting

Goering's remarks were directed to the German air force, Doenitz to the navy. No spokesman appeared for the army, and this was regarded as possibly significant.

Goering, who is topped only by Hitler in the Nazi hierarchy, pointed the finger of retribution directly at the stiff-backed Junkers faction of the German army.

Some London quarters expressed belief the entire affair might be a frame-up to give the Nazis an excuse to purge some German general staff members considered unreliable.

There is considerable suspicion over the fact Berlin propagandists for six hours had been telling the German people and the world that the "atrocious assassination" was "made by the enemy" before Hitler came out with a flat accusation of his own army officers.

Goering declared the "mean attempt at murder" was organized by "a miserable clique of former generals who had to be chased from their posts for a leadership that was cowardly as it was incompetent."

An hour and a half after the Nazis claimed the revolt had been crushed, a broadcast purporting to come from an underground German radio called for an organized fight against Himmler's Gestapo.

Lauding the officers who made the attempt on Hitler's life, the speaker, who identified himself as a German army man, declared that "only a united host of such

McGeer Loses Out On Banking Bill

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons banking committee Thursday voted down three amendments to the bank bill moved by Arthur Slaght, L. Parry Sound, Ont., and G. G. McGeer, L. Vancouver-Burrard, who have advocated money reform principles. Mr. Slaght's amendments asked that the chartered banks be not allowed to make loans to the Dominion government and that the banks be required to maintain a 100 per cent reserve against demand deposit liabilities.

Voting for the amendments were Mr. McGeer, E. E. Parley, P.C., Qu'Appelle, Sask., J. W. Noseworthy, C.C.F., York South, Ont., and Norman Macdonald, S.C., Wetaskiwin, Alta. Mr. Slaght was not present when the vote was taken.

Mr. McGeer's amendment, supported only by himself and Mr. Noseworthy, asked that it be unlawful for any chartered bank to create credit in place of lawful currency unless authorized by a government board.

Mr. McGeer spoke for nearly six hours at committee sessions Wednesday and Thursday in support of his amendment and in questioning witnesses.

President Accepts Nomination In Speech From Coast Navy Base

By C. R. BLACKBURN
CHICAGO (CP)—More than 25,000 closely-packed men and women silently watched an empty rostrum in Chicago Stadium Thursday night and listened to President Roosevelt in a precedent-shattering address from a west coast naval base, accept Democratic nomination for a fourth consecutive term as President of the United States.

This was the climax of a convention marked by bitter division, and still concerned over the battle being waged for second place on the Democratic ticket. Division on the presidential issue was not important enough at any time to threaten the re-nomination of Mr. Roosevelt.

The so-called southern state revolt against the President wilted considerably before the vote was taken and Texas—the state that started it all—split its 48 votes, giving 36 to Mr. Roosevelt and 12 to Senator Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

There was only one ballot. Of the 1,176 votes in the convention Mr. Roosevelt got 1,086, Senator Byrd 89 and James J. Farley, the man sometimes credited with putting Mr. Roosevelt in the White House, got one vote from the New York delegation.

MAKES PREDICTION
In his address Mr. Roosevelt made the prediction that another four years will find the world at permanent peace and declared: "New hands will then have full opportunity to realize the ideals which we seek."

Mr. Roosevelt made no personal mention of Governor Thomas E. Dewey, his Republican opponent, but he said U.S. voters, this fall have the choice of turning the government over to "inexperienced and immature hands" or continuing it, office those who already are planning a permanent world peace and security.

The President said his fourth term decision "is based solely on a sense of obligation to serve" if called upon to do so by the people of the United States.

He spoke from the Presidential train stationed deep inside a Pacific naval base, which he reached after a six-day trip across the country.

PERFORMING DUTIES
He said he was at the base "in the performance of my duties under the constitution," and declared: "The war waits for no elections. Decisions must be made—plans must be laid—strategy must be carried out."

"They do not concern merely a party or group. They will affect the daily lives of Americans for generations to come."

Mr. Roosevelt outlined the administration's postwar aims, to join the United States in an international organization, empowered to use military might of participating nations to keep the future peace. Also being planned, he said, are the blueprints for a domestic economy to provide "employment and decent standards of living for all Americans."

"The people of the United States will decide this fall whether they wish to turn over this 1944 job—this worldwide job—to inexperienced and immature hands," the President said, "to those who oppose Lend Lease and international co-operation against the forces of aggression and tyranny until they could read the polls of popular sentiment; or whether they wish to leave it to those who saw the danger from abroad, who met it head on, and who now have seized the offensive and carried the war to its present stages of success, to those who by international conferences and united actions have begun to build that kind of common understanding and co-operative experience which will be so necessary in the world to come."

MILITARY SUCCESSES
"They will not decide these questions by reading flowing words of platform pledges. They will decide on the record."

Into the record on the side of the administration he put military successes, war and food production "unparalleled in all history," the Atlantic Charter and the Moscow declaration and "our accomplishments in recovery and reform since March 4, 1933."

Mr. Roosevelt reiterated his statement of last week, that he will not run for office in the usual political sense.

"In these days of tragic sorrow, I do not consider it fitting," he said.

"Besides, in these days of global warfare I shall not be able to find the time. I shall, however, feel free to report to the people the facts about matters of concern to them and especially to correct any misrepresentations."

LAST NOMINATION
He said, "It seems wholly likely that within the next four years our armed forces, and those of our Allies, will have gained a complete victory over Germany and Japan, and that the world once more will be at peace—under a system, we hope, which will prevent a new world war."

"In any event, new hands will then have full opportunity to realize the ideals which we seek."

Some of his listeners read into the last sentence a hint that the fourth-term nomination would be the last for the man who four years ago cracked the national tradition of two terms with his election to 12 years in the White House.

Arrive in Britain

OTTAWA (CP)—Sixteen more members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade have arrived in Britain for overseas duties as nursing auxiliaries and transport drivers, it was announced today. They include Miss Gladys M. Melhuish, Victoria, and Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Vancouver.

CHU CHIN CHOW, hundreds of Victoria veterans will remember as the famous British stage hit with George Robey starring, produced during the last war for the entertainment of the troops on leave in London, will be given over CBC July 27. It sets a record for the longest run in the history of the English stage, and there are hundreds of them—will be interested to know. Doreen Hayes, young soprano of that city will be heard over the CBC network July 28 at 145. She will sing three songs. "Between Two Furious Oceans," a book of collected poems, by Dick Diespecker, is on the bookstands.

LESS THAN 20 per cent of U.S. disabled veterans are taking advantage of rehabilitation. Main reasons are high wages of war industries, inability to live on allowances paid while undergoing training and advice to help war effort and go into war industry and apply for rehabilitation later. Canada will gain some young brides and lose a lot of its young manhood after the war. Ontario agent-general in London estimates 20,000 Canadian soldiers will remain in Britain after the war.

DON'T WEAR SHORTS when you visit Hull. Eight girls from Ottawa who didn't know about the prudishness of that Quebec city strolled along the streets in shorts and had to pay $2 each.

THE VETERANS' WHIZZ BANG COLUMN has a sergeant-major story. The awkward squad irked him considerably. "On your right knee," he shouted. "On your left knee." Then, sorrowfully, "now pray to God to teach you to drill. I can't." And one about the young lieutenant just placed in charge of a submarine. Nervous in the presence of so many experienced sailors he gave the order to submerge. Then he remembered the sailor left on watch on deck and immediately gave the order to surface. Greatly relieved he saw the sailor swimming in the wake of the sub. The sailor blew out a mouthful of salt water and then inquired sardonically of the young lieutenant "Forget something?"

Alderman Denies Nudist Activities At Sunshine Camp

Alderman W. H. Davies, chairman of the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp committee, which he described as the only well-known sunshine camp in the Greater Victoria area, today said no activities similar to those suggested in the June issue of The Sunbathing and Health Magazine in a pictorial article entitled "Happy Naturists at the Health and Hygiene Sunshine Camp, Victoria, B.C." went on at the camp of which he is director.

At a meeting of the Family Welfare Association of Greater Victoria Thursday night, Alderman Davies brought to the attention of the directors of the association the article in the magazine published in Toronto. Mr. Davies said he would write, with the authority of the association, to the publishers asking them to dissociate the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp with any further articles of this nature which might be published in the magazine.

The magazine, in two pages of six pictures, showed nude men and women playing on the beach and rocks.

Mr. Davies said he had never heard of the existence of the camp pictured in the magazine and didn't know who the directors of the camp were or who was responsible for the article.

He said the Fred Landsberg Sunshine Camp had been operated for more than 15 years by the Family Welfare Association, which next year will celebrate its 50th anniversary of founding. The camp is supported by funds contributed to the community chest.

Purpose of the Sunshine Camp, he explained, is to give mothers, children and elderly persons who would otherwise not have the opportunity of holidaying in the country during the summer because of age and other conditions, the enjoyment of a week or more camp at Sooke.

Thirty-nine children and 16 mothers, including wives and children of several servicemen serving overseas, were now at the camp for a 10-day holiday, Mr. Davies said.

On August 3, he said, the camp would be taken over by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Twenty-four blind persons and six old-age pensioners would attend the camp until Aug. 10.

The next group would be 45 boys and girls aged eight to 10, he said, who would attend the camp from Aug. 10 to 22. A score of aged ladies are registered to attend from Aug. 22 to 31.

The camp is operated by Mrs. G. Hughes, R.N., a trained social worker and member of the Family Welfare staff.

The camp has been loaned for week-ends to the Y.W.C.A., who sent 23 girls out last June. The St. John Ambulance has also had use of the camp this year, about 40 girls attending for a week-end holiday.

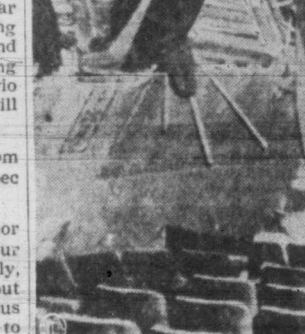

Mr. Davies said he had no idea where the Victoria camp depicted in the Sunbathing Magazine was located, but he thought from the nature of the countryside pictured that perhaps the camp was somewhere on the Sooke River.

Plane Still Lost

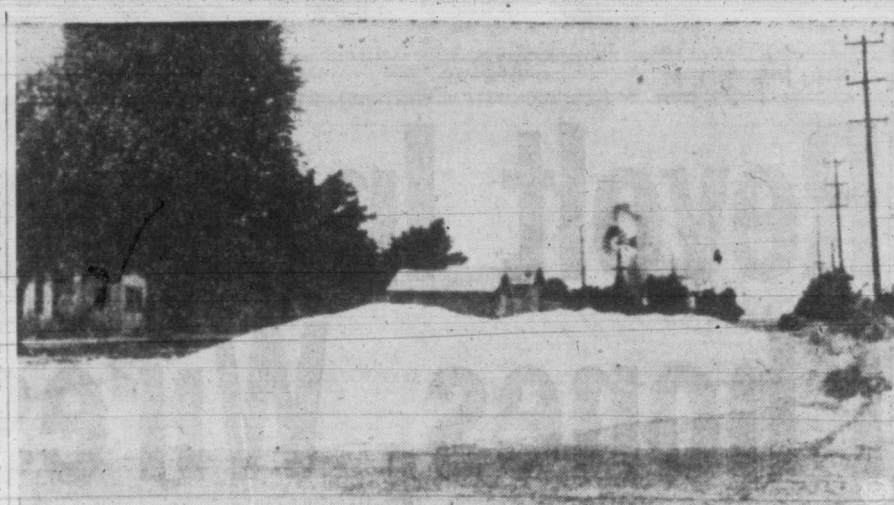

No trace has been found of the R.C.A.F. bomber which disappeared July 14 with four airmen aboard while on a routine flight, Western Air Command announced today. The bomber was on a routine flight.

Hampered seriously by bad weather, the search continues over a wide area, concentrating on the northern section of the west coast.

Names of the missing airmen will be released when it is assured next-of-kin have been notified.

THEATRE DAMAGED BY SHIP EXPLOSION—This Port Chicago theatre was filled to capacity when two ammunition ships loaded at the U.S. Naval Depot in upper San Francisco Bay, blew up. Though the concussion caved in the entire side wall and showered plaster on the heads of the audience, only two people were injured.

Recorder Continued While Others Failed

Recalling the early days of a church paper that "never shut its door," Rev. J. P. Hicks and Dr. W. J. Sippell, friends for nearly half a century, sat in the comfortable editorial room of The Western Recorder in Mr. Hicks' Esquimalt home today and reminisced on the occasion of the 45th anniversary of the paper.

Old acquaintances and old days were the topic of conversation as the two friends told of the beginning of the paper in April, 1899.

"There were 5,000 Methodists in B.C. then and Rev. W. H. Barralough suggested a monthly church paper," said Mr. Hicks, editor of the paper since its founding. "The population was sparse and ministers scattered. We thought a man was out of the world if he was sent to the Similkameen country."

"We brought out a sample copy and placed it before the Methodist Conference at Nanaimo and the ministers agreed to accept it as the official organ of the church, if we assumed financial responsibility. Our first official paper came out in July of 1899 and we've never missed a month since then."

LAYMEN GREAT HELP

Arthur Lee, Noel Shakespeare, Walter Morris and W. J. Pendray were among the laymen who stood behind young editor Hicks. A committee was formed comprising Mr. Barralough, Rev. J. C. Speer and Dr. Sippell. The last named had a column in the first issue and has been associated with the paper ever since, contributing the leading article, "Across the Years," for the anniversary number.

Rev. R. W. Whittington, 93, president of the 1899 Conference, who is still living in Kamloops, sent a note of greeting to Mr. Hicks on the paper's anniversary.

One of the highlights of the paper's history was the publication of a daily issue during a Methodist general conference in Victoria in 1910.

"Ours is the only United Church paper in the west. All activities of the church throughout Canada are conducted by the Recorder, and efforts made to advance all church activities, Mr. Hicks said. "The paper is independent in opinion and comment. I say what I feel I should say editorially."

"We are always living in current problems and anticipating events. The paper has had to exist on its own merits, and I have always been looking ahead."

Dr. W. J. Sippell, right, and Editor Hicks look over first edition of the Recorder.

Discussing early trials of the Recorder, which was titled the Western Methodist Recorder up until the time of union of Presbyterian, Congregational and Methodist Churches, Dr. Sippell and Mr. Hicks said there were many times when it was difficult to carry on, but while "other church papers came and faded away," they never thought of stopping publication of the Recorder.

The last war presented one of the greatest shocks to the paper, which was forced to drop from 24 pages to 16 when much advertising was lost, they said. Bringing of the first Methodist General Conference to Victoria in 1910, when no conference had ever before been held west of Winnipeg, liquidation of the United Church debt and efforts to keep the church "for the people, not just a select few," when there was talk of amalgamating different denominations in the interests of economy, were recalled by Mr. Hicks.

"The paper has always been interested in the general development of the province as well as the church, and we feel that accounts for its continued success," he said.

Born in Cornwall, England, Mr. Hicks came to Victoria in 1895, and was Wesleyan Methodist chaplain to the Imperial forces stationed here at the time. Dr. Sippell, a native of Woodstock, Ont., came to B.C. in 1893 to take charge of Columbia College, New Westminster.

Ask Modernization Of Outer Docks

A resolution asking that immediate action be taken to modernize and extend the outer docks was sent to Ottawa and to R. W. Mayhew, M.P., on Thursday evening by the newly-formed Greater Victoria Unification Committee.

The matter was brought to the attention of the committee by Kenneth Drury and J. V. Johnson in connection with a discussion of the breakwater for the outer harbor.

Mr. Drury and Mr. Johnson pointed out that everyone could unite on the question of the need for modernization of the outer docks which are so low that water comes up over them when the weather is rough. It was stated that ocean steamers will not dock there because of the danger of damage to the boats when they come against the cement docks which are not protected by wooden curbing.

Norman Yarrow said that these docks will have to be relied on for ocean steamers because the other dock is now being used by V.M.D.

Charles Chivers, president of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, criticized a Victoria paper for the manner in which it "went off the deep end" trying to make it appear that certain organizations are solidly in favor of the breakwater when they are not.

It was decided that the committee should take no further action at the present time in advocating the construction of the breakwater because of the disagreement among experts as to the need.

Postwar Preparations Falling Short
Of People's Need, Says Prof. LaskiBy HAROLD J. LASKI
Professor of Political Science,
University of London

LONDON (Exclusive Cable)—No one can watch the progress of the Allied armies in any of the theatres of war without the sense that, granted the necessary resolution, there is steady progress toward irresistible victory. Now and again the speed of the advance may be slowed down, now and again some German or Japanese corps mounts resistance of unexpected toughness. But, all things considered, no one can imagine that there is any longer any hope of victory in Berlin and Tokyo.

The problem now is not whether but when. The very fact that it is so makes it ever more urgent that the peoples of the United Nations should make clear to their leaders for what purpose they intend the victory to be used.

PEOPLE'S WAR

For, after all, this has been essentially a people's war and will, in the outcome, be a people's victory. I do not belittle the great leadership of Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill when I say that despite its magnitude it is the common man and woman who will have won this war. They have borne the brunt of the struggle. They have shown patient endurance and unbreakable fortitude, and after years of effort and suffering they see danger overcome. What is to be their reward?

It is not easy to see a satisfactory answer. I note with dismay that Senator Taft sought to destroy the work of the international monetary conference even before the deliberations were completed; yet stable currency is a primary condition to recovery of world trade. I note again that though Gandhi's new seven-point statement offers a basis on which a wise politician could seek to reopen the Indian issue, there is silence on its possibilities alike in London and Delhi; yet it is obvious that an Anglo-Indian settlement is one of the factors most vital to a peaceful world after Germany and Japan are defeated.

LAND BILL CRITICIZED

I note with dismay that the land bill introduced by the Churchill government, on which depends the hope of rebuilding our blitzed cities, has been condemned not merely by the Labor Party but by those associations of local authorities in Great Britain which are largely Conservative in composition.

I note that I do not find in the utterances of any Allied leaders that power to break the hold of Hitlerism or the militarism of Japan which was the supreme achievement of Woodrow Wilson in 1917-18. All use fair words to their peoples; it is difficult, at any rate in Britain, to find evidence of action that is proportionate to those words. It is not a great comfort to be told that what is being done is the most that can be expected of a coalition government. For it is pretty hard for men who have spent four or five years in the armed forces to come back to a series of pitiful compromises and be informed that no radical changes are possible until the next general election is held.

For that reformation must be set in the context of two vital factors: First, that once there is victory all the evidence goes to show that the main concern of privilege everywhere will be maintenance of its power; second, that not only shall we be a pretty fatigued people but the vast dispersal of our forces the world over is likely to mean that the men who have won the battles will be least likely to be in a position to cast votes.

CHURCHILL MAY CHANGE

"We are watching, to put it in a sentence, the transformation of Churchill, as a victory draws nearer, from a great national leader to a man willing to lend his power and prestige to safeguard the very traditions out of the operation of which the war emerged."

For Churchill knows at least as well as I do that when Hitlerite Germany is overthrown nothing will induce the Labor Party to stay in a coalition government. If it did it would become no more than a Tory dependency. He must know, too, that large principles of reconstruction, as in the white paper on full employment, mean precisely nothing as long as they remain generalizations not backed by acts of Parliament.

As the prospect of victory nears there emerges in Churchill, all the fundamental Toryism of his outlook. He is magnanimous in all his perorations and pays magnificent verbal tributes to the courage and endurance of our people. But the two pivots on which he conducts policy are, first of all, victory over the enemy; and, second, use of the Labor Party as a shield behind which, in the name of the unquestioned need for victory, Churchill and the class he represents will retain the last inch of authority and power. If anyone doubts this view, close examination of the contemptible bill for planning of the land and its development would remove the doubts.

VICTORY COMES FIRST

I accept in full his position that defeat of Germany and Japan is a necessary condition to renewal of civilized living. As long as they can fight I agree that the Labor Party must put their defeat as a primary object.

live far outweighing all others in importance. But I say with emphasis that the Premier is using this occasion to entrench the old vested interests in power. It is not very easy to distinguish his policy from one in which the masses are sacrificed, as they were after 1918. It seems he has learned very little from these momentous years; rather it may well be that he has gone back intellectually to the psychological condition he displayed in 1926. He does not know that, the world over, an epoch has ended. He has no glimpse even of the character of the new time. But he is making an Himalayan blunder if he imagines the workers of Britain fought this war so that the Halifaxes, the Hoares, the Edens and the Andersons may continue to govern them.

James reached and circled an airfield. His third attempt to land was successful, and he set the aircraft safely down, saving it and its crew.

"He is a devoted and gallant member of aircraft crew and his example has been worthy of emulation. This officer is a first-class bomb-aimer whose good work in attacks on a wide range of targets has won high praise," air force headquarters said Thursday night in releasing the citation covering FO. MR. ROOSEVELT'S ACCEPTANCE

UNLESS HE SHOULD BE UNDULY provoked by his chief opponent, or others who may be tempted to flatter with fact, Mr. Roosevelt does not propose to run his fourth-term campaign on conventional lines. But he promised his political friends and adversaries alike in his acceptance speech last night that he would not hesitate to deal with any misrepresentations that may need attention and refutation. Since Mr. Dewey already has signified his intention of limiting his electioneering to the minimum, therefore, the public utterances of the leading contenders may set a record for infrequency and, perhaps, for brevity. Time alone will tell; the President nevertheless has rather put it up to the Republican nominee to stick to the truth and avoid doubtful statements as he would the plague—or take the consequences.

It was not to be supposed that Mr. Roosevelt would have anything very startling to say. He listed the nation's job for 1944 which, briefly set forth, comes under three plain heads: 1. To win the war; 2. To plan for a peace that will make another such conflict impossible; 3. To build an economy to meet the requirements of the aftermath on sound lines. And the President relied on the good sense of the American people—many Republicans with a liberal outlook as well as his own followers—to read into his administration's record ample justification for endorsement.

The foreign policy plank of the Democratic party is just as explicit as that of the Republican party is ambiguous and indeterminate. Likewise the present government's external trade policy recognizes the basic fact that only by the free exchange of goods and services between nation and nation can international prosperity and peace be assured. Nor did the President fail to remind his vast invisible audience of the economic consequences of Hardingism, Coolidgeism, and Hooverism between 1920 and 1932. He could not conceive of an enlightened American public voting for a return of the breadlines and those tragic battalions of apple sellers on the streets.

Mr. Roosevelt's speech from beginning to end was remarkable for its dignified reserve, its sincere interpretation of what he believes to be his personal responsibility and obligation to a people to whom he has given a dozen years of unstinted service, and for its implicit understanding and appreciation of the gigantic tasks which lie ahead of the United States—and all the nations associated with her—in their joint determination to rid the world of tyranny and to enthrone in its stead an enduring and just peace. What the verdict will be next November, of course, remains to be seen.

IN THE THIEVES' KITCHEN

AMONG THE INFORMATION WHICH has come out of Germany through Sweden in the last two weeks is the confident assertion that "cliques have formed inside the army" and that, politically speaking, anything may happen—meaning particularly that "a sudden liquidation of Hitler and his regime is not outside the probabilities." This comes from a well known "standard authority on foreign affairs" in Washington and bears the date-line of July 11. It takes on special significance in view of what has all the appearance of a well-organized "inside" plot against the life of the Fuehrer and his intimate military and naval advisers of which the world's public is still being regaled with interesting details.

Apart from the disappointment most people must have felt over the failure to cause anything more serious to Hitler than a few burns and bruises, some humor is imparted to D.N.B.'s fairly full report of the "incident" by careful mention of the fact that the Fuehrer "resumed work at once and, as planned, received the Duce (Mussolini) for a lengthy conversation." Either the German official news agency was having a little joke on its own, or else the fugitive ersatz Caesar, wondering where he is to fit in with the unconditional surrender of his former pupil in the totalitarian arts, was sounding out his chances for a seat in the Berchtesgaden retreat when the Allied breezes take on hurricane force outside. For no conversation, no matter how long or how carefully prearranged, between the two deflated dictators could profit either in the military sense. Benito, on the other hand, of course, may have a chuckle left as he notes the would-be conqueror of the world heading for the creek up which he himself has tried to paddle for the last year.

Until we are permitted to know more about the summary disturbance of Hitler and his cronies, however, the best guess at the reason why so many of them were discovered in one place at this crucial time is that the once great and fearful and supposedly invincible Wehrmacht is creaking in all its many joints. The professional soldiers know this. Anti-Hitlerites of the straight-backed variety of the old Junker school are probably foaming at the mouth. How much they had to do with the little "diversion" yesterday may be revealed later on. But it would be interesting to know if any of his military advisers had the spunk to remind the Fuehrer that if he had heeded the warning he himself had written in his "Mein Kampf"—never to fight on more than one front at a time—the Reich might not be finding itself in the dilemma which threateningly confronts it. For the plain fact of the matter is, the German war machine is nearing the end of its course. It was made of bad moral stuff in the first place. And an old-fashioned good cause is now manifesting its invincibility. The thugs and thieves are falling out among themselves. It could not be otherwise.

DEWEY'S 'POSIES'

IF REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE THOMAS E. Dewey is a very sensitive man, and if he listened to the keynote speech which Oklahoma's Governor Robert S. Kerr delivered at the Democratic convention proceedings in Chicago on Wednesday evening, his face may have gone a trifle red as some of the references to him smote his ears.

One particularly cutting allusion was to the New York governor's attitude toward the war, after Hitler had invaded Poland and up to the time of Pearl Harbor, also since his candidature became an accomplished fact. "In his efforts now to appear something other than the isolationist that he is," roared Governor Kerr, "Thomas E. Dewey has gathered a few posies from the declared foreign policy of Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull, until he has most of the form of a Willkie bouquet without any of the substance."

Some commentators already see in this reference to the unsuccessful 1940 Republican candidate an effort to woo him back to the fold. Certain it is that the author of "One World" would find it difficult to campaign for his adopted party with a foreign policy plank in its platform to which he takes such strong objection. Politics, however, does strange things; hence the role of Willkie is still something about which to speculate.

WELL SCRAMBLED APPEAL

ALTHOUGH QUEBEC'S PREMIER GODBOUT has appealed to the people of the Ancient Province to confine themselves during the election campaign to purely provincial issues, it will be surprising if the various parties opposing him do not succumb to the temptation to introduce national and other highly-controversial extraneous matters. His government naturally will be considered fair game for all and sundry who have domestic, provincial, national and international grievances. It will be blamed for practically everything outside of the weather and the inexorable march of the seasons.

It will be fitting, however, to emphasize how infinitely more complicated will be the responsibility of the poor elector than deciding for himself or herself whether or not the Godbout government merits endorsement on Aug. 8. In some counties, for instance, he or she will have to decide between the claims of four or five candidates, for there are no fewer than seven contending parties in the field: The Liberals of Premier Godbout's persuasion, the Liberals of malcontent Cardin, the Union Nationale of pro-"padlock" law" Duplessis, the Bloc Populaire of Maxime Raymond, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, the Labor-Progressives and, finally, the Social Credit Party, which has chosen to contest several seats.

It was not surprising that the Progressive Conservative Party decided to leave Quebec severely alone in this provincial general election. Its fortunes are at an extremely low ebb throughout the country as a whole; not even the great build-up which Mr. Bracken's organ, Public Opinion, gave to his candidates in Saskatchewan had much effect on the public mind of that province. And if the ex-Manitoba Premier could not deliver the agrarian vote there, there would be much less likelihood of attracting the Quebec vote under any sort of Tory appeal. His supporters' attitude toward several highly-controversial federal matters are anathema to a large section of French Canada. In the meantime, nearly three weeks of campaigning are likely to produce a variety of verbal fireworks.

THANKS TO THE ARMY DOCTORS

HANSON W. BALDWIN IN A DISPATCH to the New York Times tells of a young soldier who was badly wounded in France when mortar-shell fragments penetrated his chest, lungs, diaphragm and stomach. Five years ago, 90 per cent of such wounds would have been fatal, but now this soldier is recovering in a British hospital, after five days of treatment by army doctors in France. The doctors call this a miraculous story, but it is a story that is becoming typical.

With the aid of modern scientific developments that are keeping mortality figures at record low levels, medical men are writing some of the most inspiring chapters of this war's history. Four reasons are given for their remarkable accomplishments: Major surgery close behind the lines, blood plasma, moving of wounded men by plane, and sulfa drugs. All these were unknown in previous wars. Today, 97 per cent of wounded soldiers who reach hospitals recover, against 89 per cent in World War 1. Disease mortality is also being kept at a correspondingly low ratio by new vaccines, drugs and insecticides.

Never before has there been better medical care than that which is available to the men—and women—in our armed services. This fact is a source of high satisfaction and comfort to all of us, concerned as we are for the safety of our sons and daughters in service.

Despite the fact that they control 90 per cent of the world's rubber resources in Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies the Japanese have been forced to manufacture a synthetic rubber product. Lack of shipping space is said to have motivated this.

British Politics

By FRANK FLAHERTY.
Canadian Press staff writer, recently returned from London, where he covered the conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers, tells here about the British political situation.

ELECTION TALK OVER THERE, TOO

BEHIND THE IMPOSING FRONT of the national government, British politics resolve in a whirlpool of uncertainty. It is not merely uncertainty as to which party will hold office after an election, but uncertainty as to which parties will contend for office and who will be the leading figures in them.

The government is composed of Conservatives, Laborites and Liberals. Conservatives constitute the largest party in the House of Commons, Laborites the next and Liberals a small group.

There are different opinions as to whether the coalition should split up before an election. The more common view is that the Labor ministers will withdraw, but there is a strong group in the Labor Party, particularly in the trade union element, which believes the national government should continue into the peace period and should face the electors as it stands.

WANT COALITION RETAINED

THESE PEOPLE ARGUE that the tasks of the postwar period, demobilization, peace-making, social and economic reform, will call for a government of all parties, no less than the task of winning the war—that they cannot be carried out by a party government faced with opposition.

Another element in the Labor Party, represented by the independents who do not support the government, believes Labor should sever its connection with the government at the earliest moment. They look to the Labor Party opposing the Conservatives at the next election.

The longer such men as Labor Minister Bevin and Home Secretary Herbert Morrison, both key men in the trade union organization and the party as well, remain ministers, the weaker will be their position when they attempt to criticize the government and bid for power on Labor's own account.

Recent Labor Party internal troubles have revealed a sharp cleavage between the element supporting the government and Labor Party ministers and those opposed. Mr. Bevin and Arthur Greenwood, parliamentary party leader, have taken a firm stand against the most vociferous of their opponents, Aneurin Bevan. The latter's unwillingness to make an open break with the party is taken by some as an indication of a desire on the part of all elements to keep the party together.

On the Conservative side, the question is less complicated and revolves mainly around leadership. There are divergences of viewpoint between the "young Tories" who are out for extensive reforms and some of the older men of the party who have the point of view of business.

LEADERSHIP UNQUESTIONED

ON ALL SIDES, Prime Minister Churchill's position as leader of the nation in war is unquestioned. The Conservatives, however, are not sure he ought to remain at the helm even if his health permits after the crisis is over.

Anthony Eden, the Foreign Secretary, is regarded as a probable successor to Mr. Churchill as Conservative leader and as heir to the headship of the national government, should that combination continue. Mr. Eden's popularity in the country is rated very high. Sir John Anderson, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who has impressed his colleagues with solid administrative ability, is favored by many insiders in the party.

Should the Labor ministers elect to remain in the national government, and should a split develop in the Labor Party—as a result, the Conservatives might possibly accept Mr. Bevin as Prime Minister.

In the Labor Party itself there are clashes of personalities and groups. Two ministers, Morrison and Bevin, because of their wartime jobs, have taken the limelight away from the pre-war parliamentary leaders, Clement Attlee, Deputy Prime Minister, and Mr. Greenwood. Opposing the government, the leading figures are Aneurin Bevan and Emmanuel Shinwell. In the cabinet, but not a member of the official party, is Sir Stafford Cripps.

Some regard Cripps as a potential leader, one able to unite the official trade union faction represented by Bevin and Morrison with the more independent thinking and radical elements of the party.

News Analysis—The War Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Associated Press War Analyst

There can be no doubt the attempt on Hitler's life has signalled a rebellion of dangerous size against his regime, despite his claim that only a "small clique" of officers are involved.

The gravity of the situation is made startlingly clear by the dictator's move in conferring the powers of life and death on Gestapo Chief Himmler and setting that arch-murderer to work in another bloody purge. It is emphasized by the panicky appeals which Marshal Goering and others of the Fuehrer's captains have made to the army and navy to remain loyal.

Hitler says the coup was aimed at paying the way for the surrender of Germany. That likely is true.

Nazi General Edmund Hoffmeister, a prisoner of the Russians, told his captors that Hitler is responsible for the German disaster in the eastern theatre because of insistence, against the judgment of the high command, on clinging to positions to the death regardless of mountainous casualties. So it seems the mad-dog of Berchtesgaden finally bit himself.

The genesis of Hitler's obsession is this: When the Red armies finally blocked the Nazi invasion deep within Russian territory, he adopted the apparently sound strategy of fighting a delaying action—swapping his abundant captured territory for time which might produce a turn of fortune in his favor.

At the outset this worked. But Soviet striking power multiplied amazingly, and German strength decreased, until by the beginning of this year Hitler no longer had the reserves of resources with which to pursue the scheme of delay. However, he declined to scrap it, despite the advice of his senior generals. For months he's been making "coastal sacrifices" of life in a wild effort to hold positions which he should have abandoned to shorten his front.

As a result we now find the dictator desperately fighting back to wall to defend the very inner shields of the fatherland itself. Thus there's nothing strange in the idea that infuriated officers have tried to remove the man who is carrying the fatherland down to ruin.

JAPAN'S PEAK

From Chicago Daily News

June 5, 1942—Japan's mad dream of Asiatic conquest reached its climax, crashed and sank thousands of fathoms deep, along with a considerable portion of the Jap fleet.

At dawn on the fifth, one of the mightiest armadas that the Pacific had ever floated was steaming toward Midway Island, bent on a sneak attack, speedy conquest and—in all probability—a second attack against Pearl Harbor.

But the surprise attack on Midway failed. The surprisers were surprised. The Jap armada was intercepted by an American fleet, vastly inferior in number of ships and total tonnage. It was intercepted by planes from American carriers and by land planes from Midway.

The Battle of Midway not only thwarted Japan's plans for an attack against Pearl Harbor and the Pacific mainland, it dashed Japan's hopes of any further expansion in the Pacific. It sent her fleet into hiding from which it has not emerged—will probably not emerge, until the military hierarchy decides that the time has come to gamble everything on one final toss of the dice.

CAREER HELPS
DATELESS GIRL

Dear Miss Dix—We are two high school girls and we find that the girls who get dates obtain them by asking the boys, and as we are too dignified to do this we have no boy friends. Are boys too shy now to ask a girl for a date? Boys may be scarce during the war, but we do not feel that we should ask them for dates unless it is compulsory.

TWO DESPERATE GIRLS.

WAR MAY HAVE SPOILED BOYS

Answer! Boys are never too shy to ask for what they want, and so if you have no dates it is for some reason other than their timidity. Probably it is because they have been spoiled by the supply being so scarce that they have passed into the luxury class and they no longer have to run after the girls, the girls are chasing them.

In such cases the bold, aggressive grabbers get theirs, while the modest ones get left. And this is as true of men as it is of apples or anything else in life. If the war goes on much longer, maybe the government will have to ration boy friends as well as groceries to make them go around.

Undoubtedly these are sad days for girls who have a normal desire for dates and yet who are too much ladies to be able to use the strong-armed method of acquiring them. But since there is no miracle by which the visible man supply can be increased, the best thing that you little ladies can do is to forget about them and devise some way of making for yourselves an Adamless Eden.

For there are a lot of interesting things in the world besides boys and petting parties, and if you will turn your thoughts on developing your mind instead of your emotions, and espousing a career instead of a husband, you can have a very full and useful and comfortable life.

Not all interest in life is bounded by a wedding ring.

Want Children To Stay Young

By RUTH MILLETT

There is a worthwhile lesson for the mothers of children whose fathers are in service in a little incident reported in one of Ernie Fyle's recent dispatches.

He told about a sergeant in England whose 12-year-old daughter wrote him that all the other girls were wearing rouge and lipstick and could she start using them, too.

The sergeant was in such a hurry to answer that request with an emphatic "No" that he cabled his young daughter instead of writing her.

But here is the lesson for mothers. Probably nothing that has happened since that father went overseas has made him feel more responsible for his daughter than getting the chance to exercise a father's right to put his foot down.

Home isn't a long way off, no, are a father's responsibilities, when a soldier is that closely in touch with his children.

EASY DOES IT

If the wife had written, "Theda has the ridiculous notion that she is grown-up enough to start wearing rouge and lipstick, but, of course, I put my foot down," the incident wouldn't have been very important or very real.

When when the kid wrote for a decision on the matter from her father, it became a momentous question.

There's also another sidelight to that little, human story. The men who are overseas don't want their kids taking on grown-up ways in too much of a hurry. They want to come home to find them still kids.

Of course, mothers can't hold them back to an unreasonable extent. But they can try not to let them take on more sophisticated ways than they would if "papa" were home to put his foot down when they get too grown-up, ideas.

Sea Duty for Model

Meet Lieut. Virginia Saydus of New York City, former Powers model who received early training at Brooklyn Hospital Brooklyn, N.Y. She's shown above at Washington, D.C. press conference when she told of 20 months of sea duty, serving seven months on the Scipione and 13 months on the Arcadia, both army hospital ships. For the past six months she was on the Arcadia shuttling to Anzio, Italy.

Australian rabbits, long a destructive pest, are now heavy contributors to the country's food supply.

Pte. and Mrs. C. S. Savory, Chemainus, and Sgt. Don Jolley, Vancouver.

Mrs. D. W. Kirkland of Ladner, B.C., is staying at the Empress. Mrs. Graham Cruickshank of Vancouver is at the Empress.

Dr. Roy G. Bose of Santa Monica who is giving classes on child psychology at the Summer School is talking to Mrs. H. Petty of North Battleford, Sask., and Miss E. Dickinson of Vancouver, two students at the school.

Miss Betty Forrest of Powell River, and Miss Dolores Ruth Corey of Vancouver, talk over their problems with Dr. John A. Hockett of the University of California at Los Angeles who is lecturing on elementary education.

2,172 Families Need Houses in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—There are 2,172 families in urgent need of housing accommodation here, Miss Millicent Fleming of National Housing Registry said. Of these, 619 can pay no more than $20 a month.

Suites being built now do not meet the greatest needs, Miss Fleming said. They are too expensive.

Members of the armed forces make up 779 of the families in need of housing, and 395 of these can pay no more than $30 a month rent, Miss Fleming added.

Social Situation

The situation: You are listening to a radio program, when callers stop by to see you.

Wrong way: Leave the radio on just until the program is finished.

Right way: Switch the radio off and give all of your attention to your guests. (If you leave the radio on your guests will think you find it more entertaining than they—which may be true—but you shouldn't let them suspect it.)

Receive Husbands' Decorations

The widows of two British heroes who died in action are shown here after receiving their husbands' posthumous decorations at Buckingham Palace. The King handed the George Cross to Subaltern Josephine Kempster, A.T.S., left. It was awarded to her husband, Maj. Andre G. Kempster. Maj. Kempster threw himself over a live grenade during grenade-throwing practice in Algeria, losing his own life, but saving those of two others with him. Mrs. Sandys Clarke, right, received the Victoria Cross, awarded posthumously to her husband, Lieut. Willard A. S. Clarke of the Loyal Regiment, Lieut. Clarke won the V.C. at Guirat el Atach in Tunisia in April, 1943, when he wiped out three enemy machinegun posts single-handed. Reunion to Mark 70th Anniversary Reunion of former pupils of St. Ann's Academy next week will honor the 70th anniversary of Sister Mary Theodore's entrance into the Sisterhood of St. Ann.

It is given to few women to live to celebrate such outstanding anniversaries. Bright and active still, with a remarkable memory, Sister Theodore goes daily about her duties as custodian of St. Ann's museum. She is nearly 83 years of age.

Born in New York State, Sister Theodore entered the Order of St. Ann at the Mother House in Lachine, and in 1878 arrived on Vancouver Island, serving first at Duncan. She has lived here ever since, becoming one of the keenest students of B.C. history, to which she has contributed several valuable books and papers.

the child that food is good for him, or that it will make him well, because he cannot comprehend that fact. It is not wise to coax him, and he should never be forced to eat. This disturbs him emotionally and exhausts him physically.

The best solution to the problem is to make the food so appealing that the child wants to eat it. Children are always intrigued by anything unusual, so dress the food up a little to make it more interesting. This takes imagination, time and patience, but is worth the effort.

For example, instead of serving orange juice every day, serve the moon. Make this by dividing the orange into sections and arranging them on a small plate to look like a face. Put a ring of sections around the edge of the plate. Cut one section in half and set one piece up for a nose. Make a smiling mouth with orange sections or red jelly. Use fresh or canned berries of some kind for eyes, under heavy brows of orange sections.

Or try making a basket out of the orange. Leave one half of the peel intact, and with a sharp knife outline a narrow strip from side to side for a handle, leaving it attached at each end. Remove the peel on each side of the handle, and carefully cut through the orange so that the sections can be removed in halves without breaking. After taking them out and separating them, replace them in the basket with a jelly bean or two for variety.

THE Home Nurse

CHILD WILL EAT WELL IF FOOD IS ATTRACTIVE
By MARY BEARD
Director, Nursing Service Red Cross

One of the most difficult problems of the home nurse is encouraging a convalescent child to eat. He has no understanding of his need for food, and usually little desire for it, but unless he has a sufficient amount of the right kind, his recovery will be very slow if not impossible. It will get you nowhere to tell

"My grocer tipped me off to this WORK-ENERGY BREAKFAST"

ALL he said was "include Grape-Nuts". And what a piece of advice, friends! Really different flavor—and all this grand nourishment:

CARBOHYDRATES—for energy
IRON—for the blood
PHOSPHORUS—for bones and teeth
PROTEINS—for muscle-building

And what a flavor-treat! Malty-rich, sweet-as-a-nut! There's no other flavor—no other cereal—like Grape-Nuts. You'll like their crisp "chewiness", too. Get Grape-Nuts at your grocer's and enjoy them soon.

The big money's-worth in flavor and nourishment!

Bracken Says No Newspaper Dominates His Party

SASKATOON (CP) — John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative Party leader, told a dinner meeting of federal and provincial party executives that no domination of the party had been attempted and none would be permitted.

"I did not leave the premiership of Manitoba after more than 20 years to be dominated by the views of any group—unless those views had merit and would benefit all the people of this Dominion," he said. No newspaper had attempted to dominate and no newspaper would be permitted to dominate party activities.

In an interview earlier, Mr. Bracken had said Canada's home defence army was composed of men conscripted for "a useless purpose" and that they now were being "bullied" into active service by government agents.

"The government's back-door method of conscription," he said, "is proving extremely costly to the nation, degrading to the men affected and is unworthy of a self-respecting government."

"I have never criticized the home defence army, but I have criticized the government which created it; the government which is taxing the people to maintain it—at a cost of $150,000,000 a year; and the government which is hiding behind the uniforms of recruiting officers to drive conscripted men into the active forces."

Pearkes Pleased With Reserve Army

Praise for the enthusiasm and ability of the officers and men of Victoria and mainland reserve army units stationed at Gordon Head for a two-week camp was voiced by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., G.O.C. in C, Pacific Command, Thursday, after making a tour of the units while they underwent their schemes and training.

He was pleased, the general said, with the pre-enlistment training given the young men in the units, and he appreciated the fact so many men were devoting their holiday time to army training, which would benefit them greatly and enable them to return to their work in excellent health and with new knowledge. Accompanied by Col. A. W. Sparling, D.S.O., M.C., officer commanding Pacific Command reserve army units, Gen. Pearkes and his aide-de-camp, Capt. John Holland, P.P.C.I.L., Victoria, recently returned from overseas, watched the 13th (R.) Field Ambulance set up a field dressing station in a farmyard, under the command of Lt.-Col. A. B. Nash.

The officers were pleased and impressed with the ambulance jeep which brought in five casualties to the station. The adapted jeep, famous for its work in evacuation of wounded in the Sicilian and Italian invasions, is the first to be used in western Canada. It carries four stretcher cases on a special framework which was developed by the R.C.A.M.C. overseas.

Gunnery of the 203rd (R.) A.A. Battery, R.C.A., were next watched by the visiting officers as gun's crew went through firing practice with a light anti-aircraft gun.

Visiting two sections of a Vancouver signals unit and a reserve battalion of the Westminster Regiment, Gen. Pearkes spoke to other units over a field telephone exchange and later visited the unit with which he had communicated.

Another Victoria reserve unit now at Gordon Head is No. 1 Fortress Workshop, R.C.O.C., which leaves camp daily to do ordnance work at Signal Hill and the Woolen Mills.

Beginning Aug. 7, 3rd Bn. (R.), Canadian Scottish Regiment, will go into camp at Gordon Head for a two-week camp. A Prince Rupert machine-gun unit will also attend at that time.

Lions' Life Stories

James E. Harker, James Roberts and James Evans contributed to the "Who's Who" program at the weekly Lions' Club luncheon in David Spencer's, Thursday, when they gave brief accounts of their life stories.

All three were born in England, and Mr. Harker told of his early days with the government radio service here, which included 12 months on Triangle Island. Mr. Evans told of going overseas with the 31st Battalion in the first Great War, and Mr. Roberts of a trip overseas with Spencer's Remnants.

In the absence of Dr. Clifford G. Carl, president, who is at Reserve Army camp, Ernest Emery, first vice-president, was chairman.

Browns Whip Yankees Regain 3-Game Lead

Shades of 1920 had descended on the 1944 American League pennant race as the old "split ball" argument was dragged into the first place struggle between St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees.

Claiming that pitcher Nelson Potter had been tossing "split" balls, umpire Cal Hubbard gave the Browns starter the heave-ho in the fifth inning of a scoreless ball game last night after a protracted argument with manager Luke Sewell that brought a shower of pop bottles and hats.

Since 1920 all such freak deliveries have been banned except for a list of registered spitballs. Burleigh Grimes, now Toronto Maple Leaf manager, who retired from the big show in 1934, was the last man on the list.

Two former Yankee farmhands made the St. Louis fans forget the "splitter" incident by smashing home runs in a five-run seventh-inning rally that gave the Browns a 7 to 3 victory and upped their lead to three full games. Mike Chartak, who played most of the towns in the Yank circuit, clouted his as a pinch-hitter with two on, and George (Lefty) McQuinn, who was New York property in the minors for seven years, hit the other with one on, dooming Hank Borowy. Relief man Denny Galehouse was credited with his first win of the season.

CARDS WIN PAIR
While the Browns were stretching their lead, the St. Louis Cardinals moved two more steps toward an early September clincher by downing New York Giants twice, 10 to 2 and 6 to 2 in 11 innings. Mort Cooper had no trouble in grabbing the opener over rookie Jack Brewer, but Teddy Wilks had to have a four-run 11th inning to devious Bruce Fischer. By the double victory St. Louis moved 13 games ahead of Cincinnati, their largest margin of the year.

Boston dropped Chicago back into the National League cellar by whipping the White Sox, 11 to 7, for their 12th decision in 13 starts against Chicago. Ray Starr hurled Pittsburgh to an opening 4 to 1 edge over the Phils. Bill Lee, but Ford Mullen singled with the bases loaded in the 11th to even matters with a 3 to 2 edge for reliever Charley Schanz over Xavier Rescigno.

Victoria Rinks Perform Well In B.C. Tournament

VANCOUVER (CP)—The weather man inflicted a setback on the 22nd annual tournament of the British Columbia Lawn Bowling Association here last night, but officials expressed hope that Saturday night will see the conclusion of the competitions.

After the delay caused by yesterday's rain and consequent wet greens, officials said they hope to keep various events going full speed to finish on time.

Victoria rinks made a good showing in last night's play. C. Hyslop and W. Peden of the Canadian Pacific Club finished first in their section of the Wee McKay event and J. and H. Davies wound up in second place in their section of the Mercer trophy play-downs.

W. Pilling and J. Robertson of Cumberland finished first in their section of the Wee McKay event and Dave Evans and Joe Barton of Nanaimo came off with second honors in the Mercer trophy competition. W. Seaton and Jimmy Cramb of Nanaimo came second in their section of this event.

George Whyte and T. Dixon of Nanaimo and L. O. Brown and J. M. Houlding of Kelowna are the only visiting pairs to get into the Robert Gray Memorial Trophy playoffs.

E. Tapp of Prince Rupert entered the last eight of the Chambers singles with a 21-20 victory over J. Lang of Vancouver South. Tommy Dixon of Nanaimo reached the quarterfinals of the Seaton "A" singles by an 18 to 9 triumph over Pierre Paris of Vancouver Terminal.

T. McCormick and G. Carson of Nanaimo won their Oaktand doubles games and are now in the eighth.

Bye-Monster of Cumberland is the only visiting survivor in the Nelson rink competition, although J. Davies' Victoria Canadian Pacific squad has yet to play Ernie Allen of Vancouver. Joe Barton of Nanaimo and A. Stewart of Burnside, Victoria, suffered defeat in the first round.

Bob Gray Defeated In Eastern Golf

TORONTO (CP)—Bob Gray of Toronto, defending champion of the 17th annual tournament for the Eastern Canada professional golf championship when he was defeated 1 up by B. MacWilliams of the Toronto St. Andrew's Club.

His defeat highlighted play for the Miller trophy, which began over the rain-soaked Islington course with two preliminary rounds.

Gordon Brydson, winner of the Ontario professional championship here last Tuesday and Miller trophy champion in 1939, defeated Archie Grimsditch of Credit Valley, Ont., 3 and 2.

Only United States entrant, Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., defeated George Cumming of the Toronto Golf Club 2 and 1.

Bag 8 of 10 Nazis

LONDON (CP)—R.C.A.F. Spitfire pilots shot down eight of 10 German aircraft destroyed over the British-Canadian sector of the Normandy battle front Thursday.

More than 90 Focke-Wulf 190s were encountered by one Canadian formation of 12 Spitfires over Bayeux and three of the enemy were downed.

A dozen other R.C.A.F. Spitfires met another large group of Focke-Wulfs near Bernay and shot down two.

Details on the downing of the other three were not immediately available.

R.C.A.F. four-engined Halifax and Lancaster bombers twice attacked flying bomb installations in the Pas-de-Calais area.

Canadians taking part included FO. R. F. Maskell, Kamloops, B.C.; FO. Walter Howard, Calgary; FO. Murray Faudler, Calgary; PO. H. N. Crothers, Melita, Man.

In the fighter battles over Normandy, Sqdn. Ldr. Wally McLeod, D.F.C. and Bar, of Regina, shot down his 20th plane when his squadron encountered 50 FW's at ground level near Bernay.

Two of three aircraft destroyed west of Bayeux fell to Flt. Lt. Olmstead, Flt. Lts. R. M. Stayer of Saskatoon and A. F. Halcrow of Penitence, B.C., shared another near-flier.

Victoria Pigeon in Notable Feat

John Arnaud holds Ferry Command.

Traveling at the amazing speed of 450 yards per minute, Ferry Command, a "courageous" 14-ounce Blue Check homing pigeon, from the loft of John Arnaud, 369 Denison Road, flew the grueling 466 airline miles from Edson, Alberta, to Victoria, in 28 hours, 23 minutes. Participating in the final old bird race of the season of the Victoria Racing Pigeon Club, Ferry Command was the only bird to check in in race time.

In his race time, it is the first time a "Victoria bird" completed the Edson event in race time in three years. Strangely enough the great grandfather of Ferry Command was one of the few birds to fly the course within the two-day limit. It was named Reliance.

Released from its box at the Alberta town at 6 last Saturday morning, Ferry Command timed in at his home-loft Sunday afternoon at 3:23. The bird was in a near-state of exhaustion, and in the words of Arnaud: "Was nothing more than a handful of feathers." For two days Ferry Command refused anything to eat, but has now recovered from its long flight.

In addition to the Edson race, Ferry Command had within the month flown in events from Red Pass Junction, a distance of 371 miles, and Blue River, 506 miles. Second bird to time in from Edson, but not within the required two days, was a full brother of Ferry Command, owned by Charlie Woolley. Altogether 18 birds were released.

Greyhound Racing in Canada? Forecast Big Success

By SYD THOMAS
TORONTO (CP)—Greyhound racing, definitely the "bugs" in Britain but virtually unknown in this country, may be the up-and-coming sport after the war, muses Jim (Toronto Globe and Mail) Coleman.

The boys returning from Britain will go for the hounds in a big way after they have been subjected to it for years in "Blighy."

Jim reports that some farseeing individual is trying to place a modern greyhound emporium in the environs of Toronto. And, continues Coleman, the income tax people should keep an eye on this character because he will be Canada's first postwar millionaire.

Greyhound fanciers are hopelessly breeding dogs for the day when they can branch out and they held a surprisingly successful meet last year in Guelph, Ont. Given a little encouragement they could do surprising things with the dogs.

EASY MONEY

As in most racetracks across the country, betters in Calgary's Victoria Park topped records almost daily. During the first seven days of the meet, $475,969 clicked through the pari-mutuel machines, while the biggest day's total was $97,961. Both are believed to be all-time records.

RECORD SEEKER

Speaking of records, big Jack McFeeley wants to send his speedy mare Bonnie Golos after the mile and an eighth mark at Montreal's Blue Bonnets track. He is willing to match Bonnie Golos against two sprinters in a race against time with the sprinters setting the pace in the

Fastball Battles

Up and coming Tommy Tuckers and the league-leading R.C.A.F. marked up victories in last night's fastball tilt. Tuckers knocked over the last-place Navy outfit, 5 to 0, while the R.C.A.F. walloped the R.C.A.F. Blues 9 to 2. Win moved Tuckers into third-place tie with Douglas Tire.

Pitcher Joe Bryant and hard hitting Porky Andrews were the standouts in Tuckers' win. The former hurled one-hit ball, while Andrews piled out a home run in the fourth inning to provide his club with its first two runs. Tuckers went on another scoring spree in the sixth when a couple of hits and a pair of errors along with a squeeze play gave them three runs.

Taking a one-run lead in the first inning, the R.C.A.F. had little trouble winning from the Blues. Gordie Crymbal, on the mound for the winners, hurled six-hit ball and up until the ninth had a two-hit shutout. Kenny was the opening pitcher for the Blues, but retired after four innings, to be replaced by Sperling. The pair gave up 13 hits and received weak support from their team-mates, who were charged with five errors.

Short Scores follow:

Fleet Footed Youth Escapes Cougar

While hunting cows in the woods around his home at Riseholme Farm, near Westholme, Billy Hart almost walked into a crouching cougar or mountain lion preparing to make a kill of some of the farm's livestock.

The snarling animal saw young Hart, who came within a few yards of him before he was aware that the cougar was there. Before the cougar made any move to spring on him, Hart was headed for home and he has a reputation for being fast on his feet.

When Hart reported the presence of the killer, Capt. J. D. Groves, the widely-known mountain lion hunter, rushed to the area with his trained cougar dogs. The dogs picked up the scent and were able to follow the cougar for a distance, but then the scent was lost, due to it being thought to the dry weather and high wind.

Government Study Of Breakwater Plan Urged By Mayor

Study by Dominion government engineers of the proposal to build a second breakwater in Victoria in the postwar period will be urged to the City Council by Mayor McGavin Monday.

Mayor McGavin said today the question was one of such far-reaching importance to the future welfare of Victoria and the southern end of Vancouver Island that R. W. Mayhew, Victoria M.P., should also be requested to take up the matter with the government and seek assistance.

"This subject is too important to the future of Victoria to be disposed of by any particular organization even though such organization might be assisted in its deliberations by an official of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co.," the mayor said.

"I'm not an engineer nor have I any expert knowledge of what is required to make Victoria a first-class ocean port," he said, "but a number of our shipping men and others have been stating through the press for years that all that is needed to make our outer docks fit for shipping in all weathers is another breakwater. "The cost of making our harbor facilities large enough and safe enough to take care of future trade on the Pacific should not be allowed to stand in the way of any necessary work being done. It is not a question of whether we can afford to spend the money but whether we can afford to stand still and watch our shipping trade pass to other ports."

Provincial government, by order-in-council, has given approval to the recommendation of Fernie commission that Grant Theatre in Fernie be sold to Joseph A. Altomare for $8,000, which price far exceeds the amount due for taxes.

Permit was issued today by the city building inspector's office for the construction of a five-room house, to cost $3,700, at 2300 Richmond. J. Moffat, 1775 Denman, took out the permit. Thursday a permit was issued for roof repairs, to cost $1,105, to the Dominion Hotel.

Forty boys from the Y.M.C.A. United Church co-operative camp will return from Camp Thunderbird tonight at 6 after spending a week in camp. This afternoon 42 junior Y boys will go to camp, where they will spend 11 days under the leadership of Archie Morrison, boys' work secretary.

Found guilty of dangerous driving, Ivor Thomas was fined $30 and had his license suspended for one month by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich court Thursday. A second motorist, Frank Hammond, was also found guilty of dangerous driving and was fined $30 and had his license suspended for one month.

Officers of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of British Columbia for the year 1944-45 were elected at a meeting of the council as follows: L. R. Sinclair, president; C. G. Chambers, vice-president; and H. Norman Lunn, secretary-treasurer. Following were appointed representatives of the institute on the council of the Dominion Association of Chartered Accountants: L. R. Sinclair, C. G. Chambers and R. C. Field.

Edna Simpson, 3220 Maple Street, who pleaded guilty to a charge of forging the name of one of her lodgers, Mrs. Katherine M. Allen, on a soldier's dependent's cheque, was told by Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court today that he was prepared to suspend sentence if permission of the Attorney-General to do so were obtained. The case was remanded to Saturday in order that the Attorney-General might be contacted.

An elderly man was fined $10 in Saanich court yesterday when found guilty of depositing ashes in a cardboard carton on the kitchen floor of his apartment. The charge was laid following a routine inspection of houses and apartments by the Saanich fire department and police. It was advised, Saanich fire department states that a by-law requires all ashes to be placed in a metal container with a lid, which must be kept at least two inches away from any fuel wood. The accused, who is a pensioner, was given until the end of the month to pay the fine.

Suggests Tribunal To Review Evictions

Ottawa should set up a tribunal to review house eviction orders, Attorney-General Maitland today advised Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Mr. Maitland discussed the matter with Premier Hart following Labor-Progressive protests that a woman with a large family had been evicted from her Vancouver house and is now living in a tent.

The housing situation in Victoria and Vancouver is bound to grow more serious as the Pacific war against Japan grows, the attorney-general told Mr. Gordon.

Island Forest Hazard Now Less Serious

Forest fire hazard in Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, is less serious, following light showers and overcast skies, officials of the government's forest branch said today.

Restrictions against logging operations have been partially lifted, although the woods are still closed to the general public and it is illegal to camp or picnic off the highway. Logging crews are not permitted to work until 1 p.m., which gives them a full working shift from daylight.

Prince George district is still facing extremely hazardous conditions. The Butte Lake fire is still burning and Thursday, in one corner, got briefly out of control.

Tanned and happy after 10 days at the District Boy Scout Camp at Deep Cove, a group of 25 Victoria and district Boy Scouts climb down from the truck which brought them back to scout headquarters. To date 140 boys have been to camp, which opened July 1 and which is under the charge of Freeman King, field commissioner.

Cats Blamed for Spread Of Ringworm In Victoria

By HELEN TOOTH

It's all very well to teach the children to "love little pussy" as the old nursery rhyme adjures, but after the child has finished fondling his pet parents would be well advised to teach him to wash his hands promptly and thus avert possible infection by ringworm.

It has been brought out that on the Pacific Coast at least ringworm is caught mainly from cats. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, according to J. L. Seabrook, president, is asked to destroy approximately 15 cats a month in Victoria and district because they are infected with ringworm and have infected children of the family.

He estimated that one adult cat in five that is picked up by the S.P.C.A. has evidence of the ringworm infection and is destroyed for this reason.

Skin specialists point out that cats may carry the fungus of ringworm on their fur without themselves showing any sign of the disease. Usually, however, an infected cat will have scaly patches about the face and ears.

USUALLY A CAT

Mrs. J. C. McCubbin, Saanich health nurse, said that during the past school year she had found approximately one or two cases a month in the schools and that almost invariably it was found that either a cat or dog in the family or neighborhood was carrying the infection. In the great majority of cases it was a cat carrying the infection she said.

The fungus can be transmitted from person to person, particularly in families where the children sleep together or use the same towel, she pointed out. Only in very rare cases, where the children were friendly enough to wander around with their arms around one another was the ringworm transmitted from child to child in the classroom, she said.

The medical health officer's department in Victoria stated that they did not believe there was any greater incidence of ringworm in Victoria than usual, but pointed out that they have no accurate records of the disease because, although it is infectious, it is not notifiable.

There are many popular misconceptions about ringworm, it was pointed out. In the first place it is not a worm and does not always occur in the form of a ring. It is caused by a fungus and is not the result of dirtiness. People who are most clearly have it as often as those who are not.

The disease is easily cured and tends to disappear spontaneously. Fresh tincture of iodine, diluted with nine parts rubbing alcohol, and rubbed on the ringworm patches once or twice daily for three or four days cures nearly all cases.

Children under the age of 12 or 13 are particularly susceptible to ringworm in their scalps, and older children and adults may have other parts of their bodies infected from these children.

Anyone who is suspected of having the disease should have it diagnosed by a skin specialist as soon as possible.

Preparations Made For By-election

Today's issue of the B.C. Gazette dropped a hint that the New Westminster by-election may not be far off. It published the names of provincial election commissioners for New Westminster electoral district.

So far, there has been no announcement as to when the by-election will be held. Only the Labor Progressive Party has nominated. The coalition government or the C.C.F. has given no hint as to whom their candidates will be.

Greeks Differ; Debate Looms

A challenge for a public debate, either in Greek or English, Victoria or Vancouver, was issued today by Stanley Morisse, secretary of the Greek Democratic Centre No. 1, to Thomas Latsoudes, president of the Hellenic Community of Vancouver, following publication of statements attributed to Mr. Latsoudes.

The Greek Democratic Centre, whose membership comprises Greek residence in Victoria and Vancouver, sent cables to the leader of the Greek government in Cairo and Prime Minister Churchill, Premier Stalin and President Roosevelt, seeking revocation of death sentences against three Greek military leaders in Cairo.

Mr. Latsoudes is quoted as saying: "Greek people of B.C. would under no circumstances presume to send cables to either Churchill, Roosevelt or Stalin, leaders of the democracies, demanding this or that, for peoples of the motherland."

"The church organization of Vancouver called Greek Community is not affiliated to our Democratic Centre," Mr. Morisse said in a prepared statement today.

"If Mr. Latsoudes does not know the existence of our centre nor of the death sentences passed by the Cairo governments; if he thinks he is speaking for the Greeks of B.C., let him prove it today."

Judgment Reserved In Wilby Appeal

The Appeal Court here today reserved judgment on the application of Gordon S. Wismer, K.C., to appeal the Court of Appeal judgments on two counts in the Ralph M. Wilby case to the Privy Council in London, England.

Mr. Wismer asked leave to appeal the decision of the appeal court in supporting the judgment of Chief Justice Farris who ruled the commitment of Wilby for extradition was legal, and of the right of Wilby to be held in the city lock-up here after he had been re-arrested on the original commitment order.

Judgment was expected later today.

32 Kinsmen Tour Yarrows Shipyard

First transport craft now being built by Yarrows Ltd. was seen by 32 members of the Victoria Kinsmen Club, Thursday night, when they were guests at a dinner held in the canteen of Yarrows Ltd. No. 2 Yard, at which Norman A. Yarow, managing director, was host and speaker.

A three-hour inspection of the yard was also made by the Kinsmen, whose tour was arranged by W. G. Passmore, paymaster at the yard. "We are proud to know that our first four frigates have sunk five German submarines in the Atlantic, and that our corvettes have done distinguished convoy work," Mr. Yarow said. "We have recently had word from the Naval Department at Ottawa advising us that the frigate H.M.C.S. St. Catherine has destroyed a submarine in the North Atlantic. The department felt that this achievement not only reflected credit upon the personnel of the ship, but upon the builders. This is the sort of news that peps our people up."

With five corvettes, two 10,000-ton cargo vessels and 17 frigates built since the beginning of the war, Mr. Yarow told the Kinsmen that the last of the frigates was now being completed and work was underway on the new contract for ocean-going transport ferries.

He said he believed Yarrows was the first shipyard in British Columbia to begin employing women. He gave generous credit for the tremendously increased production at Yarrows to department heads, foremen and workers. George Fatt, Kinsmen president, thanked Mr. Yarow on behalf of the club. W. Letitia, superintendent of No. 2 yard and his assistant, R. Tully, conducted the tour.

Bible Courses Now Published

Course of Bible reading for B.C. public schools, approved by the Legislature at its last session, was made public today by Hon. H. G. T. Perry, Minister of Education.

The course has been divided into 10 groups, one for each month of the school year.

Provision is made to excuse any student whose parents object to Bible reading on conscientious grounds and any teacher, for the same reason, may be excused from reading the passages, which were prescribed by the Council of Public Instruction, which is the cabinet and the superintendent of education.

The introduction to the course says: "The passages are primarily devotional. No attempt is made to give a course in Hebrew, history, but an effort is made to present a lofty idea of God, of the character of Jesus, of the standards of a good Christian life. Scientific difficulties have been avoided, so that the older scholars and members of the staff may appreciate the devotional element, apart from controversial questions. No emphasis is placed on the exclusive tenets of any particular sect or denomination. It is hoped that any reasonable person, who does not insist on the avoidance of the Christian basis of religion will be satisfied that this selection is free from bias."

2 Take High Marks By Correspondence

Education Minister Perry today drew attention to the fact that two students taking courses in the high school correspondence branch of the education department, under Dr. Edith E. Lucas, director, obtained very high standing in recent senior matriculation examinations.

Miss Lorna Downman of Dun can was awarded a $175 senior matriculation scholarship, with an average of 82.6 per cent. Her highest marks were in English and French, obtaining 88 per cent in both. She took grades 10, 11 and 12 as well as senior matriculation by correspondence.

Miss Downman first enrolled with the correspondence branch because of ill-health due to shock caused by her mother's death. She continued as a student even after she had regained health, because she was obliged to keep house for her father, a young brother and sister and an aged grandmother.

"Thus Lorna had not more leisure time for study than the average housewife," noted Mr. Perry as he told the story.

Dennis Kershaw, formerly of Pemberton, a student who did high school and senior matriculation work by correspondence, obtained 83.3 per cent. He obtained his highest marks in English and physical sciences, 92 per cent for the former subject and 91 per cent for the latter.

Textbook Branch Does Big Business

The textbook branch of the B.C. Department of Education has become, since 1930 when it was reconstituted in its present form, a large wholesale book business handling upwards of $300,000 worth of business a year. P. G. Barr of the branch explained to a group of 30 summer school students at Victoria High School this morning.

The branch is operated on a strictly business basis, Mr. Barr said, although it still handles all the free textbook distribution.

Its main function, he said, was to ensure that compulsory textbooks may be bought at the same price in any part of British Columbia, to determine that price, and to see that the prescribed textbooks are available in every school district in the required quantities. To do so the textbook branch must purchase all prescribed textbooks used in the province from the publishers and resell to the retailers at fair and reasonable prices.

He gave the teachers a detailed explanation as to how they must fill out the necessary forms to obtain free textbooks, supplementary readers, and library supplies.

Duncan Appointment

Arthur Christopher Sutton of Duncan, by provincial government order-in-council, has been appointed deputy government agent, deputy collector, issuer of marriage licenses, deputy district registrar of the Supreme Court, deputy registrar of the County Court of Nanaimo and deputy district registrar of births, deaths and marriages. He takes the place of Ormond Towers Smythe.

O'Keefe, Pat Gail In 'Mabel's Room'

Dennis O'Keefe, one of the leading players in "Up in Mabel's Room," the Edward Small production now causing hilarity at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres through United Artists release, thanked his lucky stars that he had had plenty of stunt man training in his early days.

It seems that director Allan Dwan wanted to get a particular surprised expression on Dennis' face, but had been unsuccessful. He decided to play a little trick on the actor.

Dennis was playing a particularly absorbing scene. He hurried away from the person to whom he had been talking and went head over heels over a chair in his path.

The incident produced no end of laughs among the assembled cast. But, better still, director Allan Dwan got all the footage of surprise and chagrin that he needed.

"Up in Mabel's Room" brings together Marjorie Reynolds, Gail Patrick, Mischa Auer, Charlotte Greenwood, Lee Bowman, John Hubbard, Binnie Barnes and, of course, the surprised and chagrined Dennis O'Keefe.

Precious Stones In Film Debut

Authentic Peruvian jewelry, the first to be imported to North America, is used in important sequences in the Benedict Bogaus production, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," now playing at the Dominion Theatre through United Artists' release.

The jewelry was brought to this country by the famous Peruvian artist, Reynaldo Luza, and adorns the attractive persons of Lynn Bari, who stars in the film as the exotic, fabulous Peruvian dancer, "The Perichole," Nazimova and John Loving.

The jewelry is only one of the many authentic items included by producer Bogaus to capture the flavor of old Peru and the spirit of the Thornton Wilder Pulitzer prize-winning novel from which the film was adapted.

YORK THEATRE

Brimsful of Gershwin melodies, music and laughter, M-G-M brings to the screen the beloved stage success, "Girl Crazy," starring Mickey Rooney and Judy Garland, teamed together for the eighth time. The picture is now showing on the screen of the York Theatre.

Tommy Dorsey and his band are featured in the laugh-happy comedy of the Golden West. The musical numbers include "Embraceable You," "I Got Rhythm," "But Not for Me," "Bidin' My Time," and many others.

CAPITOL THEATRE

The opening scene in "Andy Hardy's Blonde Trouble," currently at the Capitol Theatre, marks an innovation in the family series. It begins five seconds before the action in the last picture of the series ended, Andy is shown leaving for Wainwright College, which was where "Andy Hardy's Double Life" ended.

With Andy, played by the irrepressible Mickey Rooney, going in search of higher education, the picture introduces more new faces than any other film of the series, plus a new setting—the college.

One of the new characters, however, is introduced in the Hardy home. He is Chinese Key Luke, as a young doctor.

ATLAS THEATRE

Betty Hutton's clothes in her latest Paramount comedy, "The Miracle of Morgan's Creek," now at the Atlas Theatre, should be an inspiration to working girls. In the picture Betty plays a music store clerk, the daughter of a policeman and the girl friend of a small-town bank clerk, Eddie Bracken.

CADET THEATRE

With 12 original songs, Warner Bros. "Thank Your Lucky Stars," now at the Cadet Theatre, will be the most tuneful show in Hollywood, exceeding even Irving Berlin's "Holiday Inn," which held the previous record with 11 melodies.

Commons Told No Discrimination In Calling Men

OTTAWA (CP)—An election-conscious House of Commons today rocked with political banter after John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member for Lake Centre, in Saskatchewan, asked a question on mobilization and inferred that certain sections of Canada were receiving favored treatment.

Mr. Diefenbaker was stopped in the preamble to his question in which he purported to quote a Quebec registrar's directive in regard to draft evaders. Some members cried "G-d-e-e" and the speaker told Mr. Diefenbaker he could lay the foundation for his question but go no further.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked if it was a fact the Minister of Labor had given direction that persons employed in industry or business even if their work was not essential to the war effort, might be granted postponement. He also wanted to know if confidential letters recently had been sent out by the minister to certain mobilization boards giving the boards the right to depart from the terms of any regulations.

NO DISTINCTION

Labor Minister Mitchell replied: "I am well aware there is an election going on in one of the provinces in this country at the present time, but let me say this to my honorable friend, that there is no distinction made in any part of this country as to the application of mobilization regulations. Nor has any secret directive been sent out to any provinces—even to my honorable friend's province."

Mr. Diefenbaker replied, "Oh yes there is, to the province of Saskatchewan."

Gordon Graydon, Progressive Conservative House leader, took up the argument and wanted to know why there should be a difference in interpretation between the federal and provincial governments.

Mr. Graydon said he couldn't be charged with "politics" because his party had no candidates running in Quebec. He added: "You will not have any either, after the election is over."

Mr. Mackenzie, Save your deposits, you lost in Saskatchewan. The Speaker called for order as both sides of the House hurled good-humored political taunts back and forth.

WROTE TO GODBOUT

Then Mr. Pouliot asked if the Labor Minister had informed Premier Adolphe Godbout of Quebec that farmers were protected from draft regulations.

Mr. Mitchell repeated that no province was shown favoritism. J.P. Pouliot, L. Temiscouata, Que., asked if Mr. Mitchell had written Premier Godbout about farmers and the minister replied: "I would say this, that the protection given to national industry in this Dominion is probably better than in any other country of the United Nations."

There were repeated interjections that the question was still unanswered and as the Speaker called for the orders of the day Mr. Graydon got in a last word: "There is a nigger in the woodpile somewhere."

Planes Ride Gale To Pound Targets Deep in Germany

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON (AP)—Around 2,500 U.S. planes bombed the heart of Germany today, with 2,000 flying above a howling Channel storm for attacks on Regensburg and Schweinfurt and another 500 from Italy penetrating within 125 miles of Berlin.

It was the fourth consecutive day of massive, co-ordinated U.S. attacks on Germany from the west and south and followed heavy R.A.F. night raids.

More than 1,100 U.S. heavy bombers flew from Britain, conveyed by nearly 800 fighters from the U.S. 8th Air Force, the largest number of fighters from the force ever to take the air at one time. Scores of enemy aircraft were seen, but most kept a respectful distance. Other targets beside Regensburg and Schweinfurt were bombed but not immediately named. En route home, some fighters dipped low to strafe rail targets.

Targets of the Italy-based bombers were a Brux in Sudetenland, the mountainous border province which Germany stole from Czechoslovakia in the Munich conference which predated the war, Brux is northwest of Praha (Prague), the Czech capital, and the flight entailed a 1,400-mile round-trip.

NAZIS USE SCREEN

Specific targets at Brux were not identified. The Germans used a defensive screen, compelling the Liberators and Fortresses to bomb by instrument.

During the equally night, a force of around 1,000 R.A.F. C.R.A.F. heavy bombers pummeled objectives in Germany, France and Belgium, losing 31 planes. The major rail yards of Courtrai, bottlenecking three trunk lines leading to the Normandy battlefields were targets, along with German oil plants at Homberg and Bottrop-Weilheim in the Ruhr, the port of Hamburg, robot bomb platforms in northern France and road convoys north and south of Paris. Italy-based planes struck around the river Po and in Yugoslavia.

An airplane plant was bombed at Regensburg in southeast Germany, 50 miles north of Munich. The much-bombed ball-bearing works of Schweinfurt, in the southwest Reich 475 miles from British bases, were worked over again.

Within the past four days Germany and objectives on her immediate fringes have been hit by Allied air armadas totaling more than 10,000 planes.

OIL PLANTS HIT

Two R.A.F.-C.R.A.F. forces of night bombers hit synthetic oil plants at Homberg and Bottrop-Weilheim in the Ruhr, while Hamburg was bombed by Mesquites. At the same time another big force of heavies hit the railroad yards at Courtrai in Belgium, commanding the three main northern arteries from Germany to France.

Flying-bomb installations in northern France also were sharply attacked during the night.

The R.A.F. lost 31 bombers on all night operations. The Air Ministry said one of the German installations in northern France, attacked Thursday evening, was a site believed connected with the enemy's threatened use of long-range rocket.

Nazi flying-bombs continued crashing into southern England. The German said regular planes also were participating in the attack.

On the Normandy battlefield, night-flying Mosquitoes attacked highway convoys north of Paris and Seine crossing south of Paris.

The Germans reported intense right air battles over Germany, Belgium and Holland, a claim without confirmation—that 37 Allied bombers had been downed. Nine Allied planes were reported lost on the Courtrai mission.

Want Truth About Nazis

LONDON (CP)—Questions about the present situation in Germany following the reported bombing attack on Adolf Hitler, Thursday, started popping as soon as the House of Commons met today, but Foreign Secretary Eden, replying as acting House leader, said: "I am sorry I have no information at present which extends beyond that which is in the possession of all members."

Nazis Passed Here

Nazi sadists evidently receive "inspiration" from photos like this, for they are frequently found on dead Germans in Russia. These victims of a Hitler hangman in an unnamed Soviet village speak eloquently for the brutality of our common enemy.

WHIRLIGIG BEETLES SPIN, AND BOAT BUGS MAKE ROWING MOTION

A whirligig is something which turns around. Usually we think of some child's toy, perhaps a merry-go-round, when we use the word.

Nature has made some whirligigs which are not toys. I am thinking of the "whirligig beetles," also known as "whirligigs." They spin around on the surface of water.

Usually a whirligig is less than half an inch long. Some kinds are hardly a quarter of an inch in length.

Many ponds have these dark-colored beetles, and sometimes they are found in brooks. They can swim and dive. Their food is made up of small flies and other insects. Let a small fly drop in the water, and it is very likely to be eaten up by a whirligig.

The fast, whirling motion of a whirligig makes it hard to catch one of them. You may, however, scoop up several of them with the help of a net. They gather in "schools."

Whirligigs have wings, and are able to fly rather well. If they do not find the eating good enough in one pond, they fly to another.

Among other water insects are the "boat bugs," also known as "water boatmen." These are fitted with legs which are used like the oars of a boat.

Water boatmen usually are less than half an inch long. Each "oar" is very nearly as long as the body.

A water boatman may swim about the surface of a pond, lake or brook, or it may go under the water and swim to the bottom. This insect breathes air, but it can stay under water for many hours. "Hairs" on its long legs and on parts of its body make it possible for the insect to take a little air with it when it goes to the bottom. It carries "air bubbles," and uses the oxygen in them for breathing.

Being lighter than water, this bug can stay under the surface only while it is swimming, or while it is "anchored" to a pebble or some other object. It holds to such an object with two of its legs.

The water boatman likes to feed on tiny animals and plants which it finds in mud or sand.

Some water boatmen have the queer habit of swimming on their backs. In doing this, they use their long legs to make a rowing motion. A special name for this kind is "back swimmer."
